

(a) Direct graph--text concatenation

Graph and text compete in one fused predictor; text noise can perturb a strong graph backbone.

(b) Graph-anchored textual residual

The graph prediction remains explicit; text enters through a near-zero-initialized, bounded-gain residual.